

Laser Hair Removal

- The overall response rate to laser hair removal is very good BUT some persons do not respond
- Light hair, blonde hair and grey hair do not respond
- Fine hair is less responsive
- The number of treatments is generally 4 at a MINIMUM, although most require more
- Males usually require more treatments in the initial course, and up to 12 is not uncommon
- Females with Polycystic Ovarian Syndrome (PCOS) require more treatments
- Ongoing maintenance treatment is often required
- After treatment possible effects include:
 - Redness, scabbing, crusting and blistering
 - Increased pigmentation (dark spots), or decreased pigmentation (light spots)
 - Scars
 - Paradoxical stimulation of hair growth (more common in darker skin types with fine hair)
